

Connecting patients with the health care they need

Research shows patients who have a family doctor and visit them regularly are healthier as they age, live longer, make fewer visits to emergency and are hospitalized less often.

Example of team-based care for patient with diabetes

A family physician has a senior patient with Type 2 diabetes who is using maximum oral medications and needs to start basal insulin. Here is an example of how a family physician can have the PCN health team help the patient.

The primary care network provides better access to health care through a team approach. With a solid support system, a higher level of care and success rate will be achieved for the treatment and management of the patient's diabetes.
